

The Bronx Blue Bedroom Project Presents Phase One of

How the K.I.D.S. Meets:

A Blanket Fort in Blanka's Bedroom for Weekly Meetings of The K.I.D.S. (Kindness and Imagination Development Society)

We were all kids once. Deep down we all remain kids. We, the K.I.D.S., are looking to bring out the good intentions and creativity of childhood in the daily life of adults. This seems to be the only way we can even hope to be happy or to begin solving the problems of life.

The K.I.D.S. is a fluctuating group of people committed to developing (or redeveloping) their childhood selves. Not so much in the sense of being immature and irresponsible, although that has its definite place, as in the sense of approaching life with wonder, boundless energy and interest.

Bear with us for a moment. Try to remember what it felt like when you were a kid, and you met some other, unfamiliar kids somewhere – when you were on vacation out of town, perhaps – and think of the way you got to know each other by playing together. This is the energy that we are always trying to get at: our fun-damental play power. The K.I.D.S. focuses on the interests and ideas of one and all, using our hopes, dreams and skills to change the world, one day at a time.
